Venice Main Island Venice, Noventa di Piave Designer Outlet Shopping City - Trieste (Italy) Venice, the city in the sea - this water city built by merchants is located in northern Italy and faces the Bay of Venice. Its city streets are surrounded by slightly green water and are actually distributed on 118 small islands. They are connected by 160 canals and 400 bridges extending in all directions, and the recreational style is exciting. Travel experience of tourists from all over the world. Venice is not only full of romantic sentiment, but also contains unique cultural heritage, which has made Venetian people proud since more than a thousand years ago. The beauty of Venice is both water and land, flowing and still. The winding canals are connected with small bridges. Visit the winding St. Mark's Basilica, the Bell Tower, the Grand Piazza, the Palazzo Vecchio, the Bridge of Sighs, etc. In the romance, traces of ancient history are also clearly present. Canals, gondolas, ancient bridges, and sunsets intertwine to form a unique romantic scene in the water city. In your spare time, you can freely stroll through the shopping streets or have a cup of strong Italian espresso. Drinking coffee The Bridge of Sighs - is a Baroque-style stone bridge in the second building of the Doge's Palace near St. Mark's Square in Venice, Italy. There are several bridges on the canal waterway, and the bridge of sighs is a sealed arch bridge building, with small bridge windows that can only look inward and outward. The two ends of the Bridge of Sighs connect the court and the prison. When death row prisoners pass through this bridge, it is often the moment before execution in Venice. They are famous for sighing that the end is coming; it is one of the glorious bridges. The Doge's Palace - the official residence of successive Venetian doges, also known as the "Doge's Palace", was originally a defensive fortress built in the 9th century AD. Later, it suffered two disasters. The appearance of the existing Doge's Palace was renovated in the 14th and 15th centuries. It is made of pink marble as the main body, and the bottom floor is a colonnade supported by columns, forming a light Gothic style building. Piazza San Marco in Venice - Piazza San Marco, described by Napoleon as "the most gorgeous hall", is surrounded by a whole complex of buildings, including the church, the bell tower, the Doge's Palace, the old and new prosecutor's residence, the Municipal Colle

Museum, etc.; during the Carnival every February. The church here is even more crowded and has become a large exhibition venue for makeup masks. Zagreb Zagreb First go to Italy's Unirii Square. Built facing the sea, it was once the economic and political center of the city. It is the largest seaside square in Europe. It faces the harbor on one side and is surrounded by buildings on the other three sides. In the center is the Trieste City Hall. The square is wide and beautiful. The Grand Canal, not far away, is lined with cafes, quiet and poetic. In your spare time, you can also go to Café San Marco, a century-old café located in the city center, to enjoy a cup of fragrant and rich Italian coffee, or even enjoy coffee. Trieste, the pearl of the Adriatic, is a beautiful port city on the northeastern border of Italy. Trieste is located at the junction of Germany, Austria, Italy and Slavia. It was once a prosperous port city on the Mediterranean coast and a center of music and literature. The buildings in the city are still quite intact and clean, the streets have a strong Austro-Hungarian Empire color, Baroque and neoclassical buildings can be seen everywhere, and the city layout is broad and grand. The special geographical environment and historical background also give Trieste a unique and charming atmosphere. It is the most suitable retirement city in the eyes of Italians! Ljubljana - Ljubljana, the capital of Slovenia, is the political, economic and cultural center. The city still retains the city walls and beautiful mosaic floors built during the Roman Empire. The city was greatly influenced by Austria, and the entire street shows an Austrian style, especially the old town located on the banks of the Ljubljana River with three bridges, separated from the castle. Most of the houses in this area were built in the 15th and 16th centuries. The Baroque-style Municipal Square, the 17th-century Roba Fountain, the unique triple bridge, the green-roofed twin-tower St. Nicholas Cathedral, and the lively traditional market are all attractions we will not miss. Ljubljana Castle Cable Car (Special Arrangement) - Take the cable car to the Ljubljana Castle, where you can overlook this classical and elegant capital. Zagreb, which has a long history, is the largest city in Croatia. It is also the transportation hub, political, commercial and cultural center in Croatia. National Park Zagreb, the capital of Croatia: Start the city tour from the higher-lying Caputo District Hall, which is the largest religious building in Croatia. The two towering minarets can be easily seen from every corner of the city. But now this neo-Gothic church building was rebuilt by the church after the earthquake in 1880. The interior is very magnificent and contains important antiquities since the 11th century. Walk through the open-air market and arrive at the stone door guarded by the Virgin Mary, where a painting of the Virgin and Child is enshrined. It is said that a fire in 1731 burned the buildings in the old city, but only the stone door with the portrait of the Virgin Mary was not damaged at all. Since then, the incense has flourished. After passing through the stone gate, you can reach the St. Mark's Church, which is world-famous for its beautiful mosaics, stickers, and roofs. The church is located in the center of the essence of the old city. It occupies a small area, but from a distance, looking at a red-tiled Eastern European city's Chinese churches, the unique roof of the church leaves a deep impression on people. Teaching Plitvice Lakes National Park (also known as Plitvice Lakes National Park) - located in the karst mountainous area in central Croatia. Founded in 1949, it is the oldest national park in Southeast Europe and is now the largest national park in Croatia. Because there are many natural embankments formed by limestone deposits in the park, these embankments have formed lakes, caves and waterfalls. Since there are mainly 16 lakes, the park is also called "Plitvice Lakes National Park". Breakfast: Hotel breakfast Lunch: Western (mutton) Dinner: Buffet Dinner Hotel: Hotel Jezero or similar 【About accommodation】 Today I will stay in a small hotel around Plitvice Lakes. Due to geographical constraints, most of the hotels in this area are village-style or B&B-style. The town is a rural area. The accommodation conditions such as room equipment and decoration are relatively simple and cannot be compared with other big cities. Please forgive me. for 06/01

The beautiful and special scenery makes Plitvice Lakes National Park a forest national park well-known in Europe. She is rich in waterfalls in spring, green in summer, red leaves in autumn, and snow in winter. The limestone steps in the park create waterfalls everywhere, and 16 lakes are scattered in various areas, hence the name "16 Lakes National Park". The water mist caused by the waterfall water is matched with the gurgling river water. You can wander in the dreamlike but realistic natural beauty.
