[BA NA HILLS in Yunwu (French mountain town, century-old wine cellar, and dream paradise all in one vote)]BaNa Hills is located 40 kilometers west of Da Nang. During the early French colonial era, it was 1,487 meters above sea level. The temperature is 6°C to 8°C lower than at the bottom of the mountain all year round, making it cool and comfortable. As early as the early 20th century, this place has been a summer resort for the French. In recent years, the local government has redeveloped Ba Na Mountain into a leisure resort. It has built a large Buddha and temples on the mountain. It has also renovated the former French wine cellar, built an indoor motorized amusement park and a large aerial castle resort, making it look like an aerial paradise. Climbing the mountain by cable car is divided into two sections. The first section is "the world's longest single cable crane with the largest drop", which was listed in the Guinness World Records in 2009. It is about 5,042 meters long. It starts from the No. 1 cable car station at the entrance of the scenic spot and goes to the No. 2 Ba Na cable car station at an altitude of more than 1,330 meters. The whole journey takes about 20 minutes.

【Canaan Island】Located in the Thu Bon River Basin in Hoi An, it is the pearl island of Thu Bon River. It is famous for the water coconut groves and natural ecology between the islands. You can take a dustpan (bucket) boat into the water coconut grove and experience the fun of fishing for crabs in the water coconut grove! 【Hoi An Ancient Town】In 1999, UNESCO designated the ancient city of Hoi An as a World Cultural Heritage. The ancient city of Hoi An (Hoi An) was the first city where Chinese immigrants settled in China and Vietnam at that time. Walking through the old streets of the ancient city, you will see familiar Chinese characters. At the end of the Ming Dynasty and the beginning of the Qing Dynasty, five generals of the Ming Dynasty were unwilling to surrender to the Qing Dynasty, so they crossed the sea with their families and settled down here. When Zheng He sailed to Vietnam, he stopped in Hoi An and brought Chinese immigrants. To feel the strong Chinese flavor of the ancient town of Hoi An, you have to go to the two old streets of Lei Loi and Tran Phu. Both sides are lined with ancient Chinese-style buildings that have stood for hundreds of years. The buildings are composed of gables, colorful mandarin duck tile roofs, hardwood columns and rafters, door leaves, red walls and green tiles to form deep courtyards. The structure, layout and furniture of the house are all full of Chinese flavor.

"Phu Quoc Island". Phu Quoc Island, once the largest island used by Vietnam's military, is located in southern Vietnam and is known as the "Pearl Island". It is an independent dream island. It has become more and more discussed in recent years. With its quiet beaches and warm climate, Vietnam's "Phu Quoc Island" has become a new tourist attraction! It has "the world's longest cross-sea cable car, waterway theme park" and other tropical island resorts. If you haven't been to Vietnam yet, you might as well dedicate your first time to Southeast Asia's new resort "Phu Quoc Island"! Compared with Halong Bay in the north, Da Nang in the center, and Ho Chi Minh City in the south, Phu Quoc Island will be a brand new tourist destination for international tourists. It has a comprehensive range of entertainment facilities including land and water theme parks, the world's longest cross-sea cable car, international casinos, wildlife parks, etc., and internationally renowned hotel chains are vying to set up shop. During a tropical island vacation, Phu Quoc Island will be the first choice for tourists! [Grand World Phu Quoc Big World Never Sleeps]Come to Phu Quoc World Night Market, take a leisurely stroll through Shanghai’ s magical Lantern Street, or have fun at the Mediterranean-style bars and pubs! Sail along the Gondola River on the Venice canals full of Italian dreams. Immerse yourself in the colorful world of art space, where tourists from all over the world can enjoy the love dance drama "Colors of Venice".
